Regenerative Medicine

Regenerative medicine offers safe and effective alternatives to surgery. In this cutting-edge specialty, cells are harvested from your own body. These cells "wake the body up" when injected into an injured site. Each procedure is performed in the office with little downtime.

- PRP: Platelet-rich plasma (PRP) contains growth factors and proteins that stimulate your body's healing properties to repair damaged tissue.
- BMAC: Bone Marrow Aspirate Concentrate (BMAC) injections contain stem cells and growth factors from your bone marrow.
- Adipose/Lipogems: Stem cells from fat tissue are harvested, washed, and injected into injured tendons, ligaments, or joints. This procedure has proven highly successful in the regenerative process.
